In this fun and informative workshop, Laurie will show participants how to achieve any skin tone with only four colors. The workshop is appropriate for beginners through advanced, as portrait drawing skills are not necessary, only optional. Techniques taught in this workshop are applicable to painting any subject matter, including landscapes, still life, and florals. The days include short demos interspersed with plenty of painting time and will end with a short exhibition of participants’ works and discussion.

A printable workshop flyer, supplies list, and workshop cancellation policy will be available to registrants on the Pittsburgh Watercolor Society Website within the online event description.
