Painting Animals in Watermedia, (primarily acrylic)

Saturday, April 1, 2023, 9:30 A.M. – 4:00 P.M.

Pittsburgh Watercolor Society is delighted to present a Saturday animal painting workshop in water media with Kim Freithaler. Originally from New York City, where she completed an internship at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, studied at the Art Students League of Manhattan, and taught in Manhattan public schools, Kim is currently the Executive Director at North Hills Art Center as well as a painting instructor. Kim has won numerous awards, and her work is exhibited in several galleries and businesses. Her murals have been installed in public buildings both locally and in Georgia. She paints oil portraits by commission. A wider selection of Kim's work can be viewed at: <http://kimfreithaler.com> and <http://facebook.com/kimfreithalerportraits>

As animals cannot "sit" for a portrait in the way humans can, choosing the right reference material is essential in painting animal portraits.

WORKSHOP DESCRIPTION: Participants should bring a variety of references for their animal portraits, making sure there is enough detail in the references chosen, as the workshop will first cover choosing the right reference material. It is helpful to enlarge an image to about 8" x 10". Kim will instruct participants on how to get a likeness and how to obtain accurate fur colors and textures. The workshop will begin with a demonstration and individual instruction will follow. Participants may bring any water media they choose, but instruction will be done with acrylic paints. The supplies list provided on the PWS website link is only a suggestion, and participants should bring what they are comfortable using. Virtually any color mixture will make some type of brown!

Location:

Wilkins School Community Center
